

How Business and Work Relationships Can Affect Your Wallet

a discussion with
Dennis Wong, Esq. and Ying Ying Chung

Whether we are working for ourselves or someone else, we often have to deal with customers, clients, co-workers, bosses or employees as part of our work responsibilities. Conflicts often arise that can affect the business' productivity, efficiency, office morale, employee turnover, customer relations, and profitability. When the pains and pressures from these conflicts become too great labor unrest, customer complaints, lawsuits, or loss of business usually follows. The bottom line is that you will have less money in your wallet. During the holiday seasons, conflicts in business and work relationships are more noticeable.

Dennis Wong, Esq. will discuss business relationships with clients, customers and business partners from the perspective of business owners, executives and managers.

Ying Ying Chung will discuss business relationships between co-workers, supervisors, managers and the public from the perspective of the employees.

When: Thursday, December 6th, 2007
Time: 4:15 p.m. - 5:30 p.m. (Registration begins at 4:00 p.m.)
Where: The Rotunda Building, Conference Room, 2nd Floor
300 Frank H. Ogawa Plaza, Oakland, CA 94612
Cost: FREE TO THE PUBLIC
Registration: Please RSVP by Tuesday, December 4th (Limited Seating)
Tel: 510.373-7911 Fax: 510.588.4818
www.Info@DennisWong.com

Dennis Wong is an attorney with over 20 years of experience in the fields of business, finance and law. Visit Mr. Wong's website at www.DennisWong.com for more information.

Ying Ying Chung assist people in the realization of what is energy and how to utilize energy in their daily lives. Visit Ms. Chung's website at www.YingYingChung.com for more information.